There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few vears was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced i ta local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cartarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Avoid Harsh Drugs

Many Carthartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and carthartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. Minstrels Coming.

Managers Gilliam & Woods of The Auditorium take pleasure in announcing that they have secured Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels for Saturday, March 4th.

This famous band of Funsters, like wine, appear to improve with age. For thirty years they have kept the whole world laughing and like Tennyson's "Brook," bid fair to "go on for ever."

The beautiful new First Part, The Palace of Revelry, is a dream of splendor and a feast for the eye. Extravagant adjectives do but slight justice to the scene-painter's art. This, together with the lighting effects and beautiful and expensive satin and silk costumes and settings, form a picture not soon to be forgotten, and represents an outlay of money that would stagger a minor attraction. The singing portion of the program is under a competent instructor, and you will hear the songs of the Southland sung with a spirit and fidelity true to the ante-bel-

But the good things do not end here There are seven big vaudeville acts, two of which have never appeared with a minstrel company before.

The parade will take place promptly at noon. There will be a free band concert by the best minstrel band in the world at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in front of the theatre.

Here Is a Remedy That Will Cure Eczema.-"We Prove It."

Why waste time and money experimenting with greasy salves and lotions. trying to drive the eczema germ from underneath the skin when the Windrow Drug Store guarantees ZEMO, a clean liquid preparation for external use to rid the skin of the germ life that causes the trouble? One application will relieve the itching and often times one bottle is sufficient to cure a minor case of eczema.

In over 2,000 towns and cities in America, the leading druggist has the agency for ZEMO and he will tell you of the marvelous cures made by this clean, simple treatment. ZEMO is recognized as the cleanest and most popular treatment for eczema, pimples, dandruff and all other forms of skin or scalp affections whether on infant or grown person. Honest Officials.

What we have to demand in ourselves and in our public servants is honesty-honesty to all men; and if we condone dishonesty because we think it is exercised in the interests of the people, we may rest assured that the man thus showing it lacks only the opportunity to exercise it against the interests of the people.-Theodore Roosevelt.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

Something like a blast took place at Bonawe quarries the other day when upward of 400,000 tons of granite was displaced. The face of the rock was 300 feet high and the powder was located 80 feet from the quarry floor.

Attacks School Principal

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga. is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Here Soon.

Retaining all the features which made minstrelsy so popular in the days of Christy, Schoolcraft, Emerson, Backus, Wanbold and Emmett, yet replet with novelties of the present day and fully keeping pace with public demand, the big fun-making organization, Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels will appear at the Auditorium on Saturday, March 4th.

"The oldest and best" is the title bestowed upon them by an amusementloving public. That they have fulfilled this appellation, the longevity of their existence amply testifies.

Be on the lookout for the big parade at noon; it's worth watching.

Men Do the Same Thing. Here's a twentieth century epic which will appeal to the heart of man: A dog sat in the midnight chill and howled at the beaming moon; his knowledge of music was strictly nil and his voice was out of tune. And he howled and howled as the hours went by, while dodging the bricks we threw, till the moon was low in the western sky, and his voice was split in two. And there wasn't a thing at which to howl over which a pup should weep, and the course of that dog was wrong and foul, for people were wild to sleep. There are plenty of men like that blamed fool bound. who yell when there's nothing wrong. disturbing the country with senseless sound-the pessimist's doleful

Commissioners' Court.

The official bond of Judge Peter Hoog, Justice of the Peace, of Castroville was approved.

The King road, connecting the Hondo negro settlement road with the Hondo-Utopia road, was ordered opened and different damages, for moving fences, etc., were allowed.

Reports of treasurers of the independent school districts of Medina county, Hondo, Devine and D'Hanis, were compared, found correct and approved.

The Court prepared a Tabular Statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county for the year 1910. This report shows General Fund receipts of $10,935.41; disbursements, $10,793.12; leaving a balance on hand Jan. 1, 1911 of $142.29. Road fund, total receipts $11,694.82; disbursements, $7,877.60; leaving a balance on hand Jan. 1, 1911 of $3.817.22. Bridge Fund, receipts $3,168 12; disbursements, $3,101.92; leaving a balance of $66.20. Court house fund, receipts, $4,514.97; disbursements, $4,512.59; leaving a balance of $2.38.

Presiding officers of election for 1911 were appointed for the various precincts. (A list of the same appears elsewhere.)

The court adjourned Wednesday evening for the term. The next meeting of the Court will be April 12th to approve the Tax Collector's final settlement.

Paine Accepted Devoe's Offer

Good yarn: How Devoe got an agent at Delhi, N. Y.

Gladstone & Paine were agents for ; we mustn't tell names-Devoe wanted 'em. Paine was painting his big Colonial house. Said it took 10 gallons of white for the trim.

Devoe sent him 10 gallons and said: if you get it all on, no pay; if you have any left, return it and pay for the rest. Agreed.

He returned four gallonns and took the agency. Four or five years ago. He knows now that his old paint was and is adulterated; that's why it took ten gallons to equal six of Devoe.

Go by the name; there is but one name to go by: Devoe lead-and-zinc. Hollo way Bros.

Washington's Birthday Celebration.

Birthday Celebartion given at the A. about twenty-five members. H. D. Hurt residence Friday evening,

A progran of appropriate compositions, poems and songs, was the principal past-time of the evening. Music was also enjoyed. It was furnished by Mrs. F. Brown, Mr. Hugh Woods, Misses Annie Callaham, Ruth Whipple len, sentinel; Charles Hoover, guard; and Cecile Carle.

General and Lady Washington were represented by Walter McClaugherty and Miss Bertie Sanders. They, with Robert Surber and J. N. Henderson. snowy hair and old-time costumes, were a very good representation.

The house was brought to order with prayer, by Rev. White, after which the program was read by Sidney Carter. Those on the program were: Rev. S. M. White, Mrs. White, J. H. Hardy, Sidney Carter, Miss Gilliam, Misses Mona and Opal Bryant.

dents were placed on the walls and a asked to be present. guessing contest was enjoyed by those who accepted the paper and pencil to write down the names of all the Presidents they could recognize from the pictures. A prize was given to the one who guessed the most Presidents correctly. Hal Jones won first prize and Oscar Taylor won booby prize.

The guests were estimated at about eighty in number, all of whom announced the fact that they had enjoyed the evening very much.

Delicious refreshments of cake and fruit punch, were served which was participated in with much fun. When all were served, Home Sweet Home was played and each guest retired homeward.

(Q.) Why is it that glasses are worn so much more now?

(A.) Years ago the science of optics was not understood as it is today. Only old people or those near-sighted wore glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

(Q.) Why is it that cheap glasses do not give satisfaction?

(A.) Cheap glasses are so faulty in construction and so poor in quality that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes.

A Good Beginning.

Everything in later life depends upon how we begin it. You cannot be successful in life if you haven't good health. To insure good health in later life it is necessary to start right. Many of life's serious ills are caused by constipation, indigestion and liver trouble. The best way to cure them in old or young is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what we claim, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg. Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all druggists at 50c and $1 a bottle.

50 Per Cent Better

"I have used less than one bottle of Cardui," writes Mrs. Gertrude Ward, of Rushville, Neb., "and am feeling fifty per cent better than when I began taking it.

"Before taking Cardui, I had suffered with female trouble, for eight years. My greatest trouble was irregularity. I also suffered with severe pains, every month, but now I am greatly improved and will recommend Cardui to all my suffering friends."

The Woman's Tonic

The rare medicinal herbs of Cardui are imported by the manufacturers direct from Europe and are not to be found in any other medicine.

These ingredients are what give Cardui its superiority. as a female medicine and tonic, over any other medicine. For over 50 years Cardui has been the favorite woman's medicine. The ladies like it, because it is so easy to take, so gentle, so safe, so reliable in its results, and they have faith in its curative tonic powers, because of the thousands of other ladies it has helped. Try it today.

HINTS FOR BRUSHING HAIR

Tangles Should Be Removed With the Comb-Brush Must Be Washed Every Other Day.

Do not use a brush to remove tangles. This is a too common practise that is responsible for much of the badly spit hair of the present

Remove tangles with a comb of smooth, even teeth, used gently and regularly; then brush steadily from the roots down to the very end of the

There are few scalps that are not benefited by daily brushing for five minutes. Occasionally, however, when the hair is fine and delicate, or is falling badly, brushing should be omitted as too severe.

Brushing with an unsanitary brush is worse than nothing. If it is too much trouble to wash a brush after each using, at least, wash it once every two days.

This cleanly precaution takes but a few minutes if a little ammonia is put in a basin of water and the brush dipped into it several times, then into fresh water. Dry quickly in the sun, and the back is not injured. Do not economize in your brush buying. Cheap bristles tear the hair and may injure the scalp. A brush with an air-filled back is advised by many hair-dressers. When the hair is not heavy, a narrow brush, such as is used for shampooing, is a good choice for daily brushing, for it is more likely to get into the scalp.

Cords as Fastenings.

Rich cords as fastenings on the afternoon coat are a relief after the various hook and button arrangements, even though they are so shaped as to suggest the drop handles of old furni-

They slope gracefully down the bias opening of a short coat of gray cloth for the older woman.

Silver hair is beautified by the introduction of a metallic touch on the costume. The button or round form on which this loop is caught to fasten it is covered first with gray silk and then with the wound-round cord.

Sheer Linings.

Linings, when they are used at all, as beneath the soft, sheer afternoon and evening gowns, are still the thinnest possible mousseline—that crisp silk muslin, which is not chiffon, but equally sheer.

The lining is closely fitted, but with an ample allowance for all those places where the wear is heaviest. In other words, it is a fit, but not a tight one, and it is completed before the outer materials are draped upon it, or else the underarm seam alone is When you have rheumatism in your left basted until the outer material is draped and sewed with it.

Proper Cleaning of Cloth.

Few people realize what an excellent instrument a rubber sponge is for "dry cleaning" woolen materials. The gown should be laid upon a table or flat surface and rubbed briskly with the sponge, taking care always to rub the wrong aide of the nap, and cleaning the cloth carefully after each rub. Even the lightest of woolen materials can be treated in this manner.

ABOUT ADVERTISING-NO. 6

If It Fits You Wear This Cap

By Herbert Kaufman

Advertising isn't a crucible with which lazy, bigoted and incapable merchants can turn incompetency into success—but one into which brains and tenacity and courage can be poured and changed into dollars. It is only a short cut across the fields-not a moving platform. You can't "get there" without going some."

It's a game in which the worker-not the shirker-gets rich.

By its measurement every man stands for what he is and for what he does, not for what he was and what he did.

Every day in the advertising world is another day and has to be taken care of with the same energy as it's yesterday.

The quitter can't survive where the plugger has a ghost of a chance.

Advertising doesn't take the place of business talent or business management. It simply tells what the business is and how it is managed. The snob whose father created and who is content to live on what was handed to him can't stand up against the man who knows he must build for himself.

What makes you think that you are entitled to prosper as well as a competitor who works twice as hard for his prosperity?

Why should as many people come to your store as patronize a shop that makes an endeavor to get their trade and shows them that it is worth while to come to its doors?

Why should a newspaper send as many customers to you in half the time it took to fill an establishment which advertised twice as long and paid twice as much for its publicity?

This is the day when the best man winsafter he proves that he is the best man-when the best store wins, when it has shown that it is the best store-when the best goods win, after they've been demonstrated to be the best goods.

If you want the plum you can't get it by lying under the tree with your mouth open waiting for it to drop—too many other men are willing to climb out on the limb and risk their necks in their eagerness to get it away from you.

It is a man's game—this advertising—just hanging on and tugging and straining all the time to get and keep ahead. It is the finite expression of the law of competition which sits in blind-folded justice over the markets of the Tom Heath, who ships a great deal of wood from this place, calls our attention to the almost prohibitive freight rates on the same. Wood that costs two dollars a cord to load on the cars here costs three dollars a cord freight to Alpine, a distance of 320 miles, and leaves so little profit on the the handling of it that many are allowing great quantities of it to rot. It seems that a better rate could be given by the road, one that would at least not be prohibitive. If Hondo had a Commercial Club this matter could be looked into and possibly some effective representations made to the railroad company looking to a better rate.

Tergott gave off bright ideas as a fire gives off sparks, but he could not snare them with practicality. Working on a Tergott idea, Disbrow pegged away until the thing was done, to the glory of the superintendent among his superiors. They were a handy pair to have around.

They were enthusiastic national guardsmen, and every Saturday halfholiday found them on the rifle range at practise. Just now they lying on the thousand-yard point. Three-fifths of a mile away the thirty-six inch bull's eye wavered in the heat mirage, a minute black speck that often seemed to wink out for a moment.

The rivals were both clever riflemen; but Drisbrow was off form today. As he strained his eyes and froze his muscles at the moment of firing, a disquieting vision would float into his mind-a vision of last night, when Tergott and pretty Belle McNee strolled down the street together as he came to call. A man cannot shoot well when a girl's eyes stare the bull's-eye out of countenance, and tendrills of soft brown hair twist themselves about his trigger finger. Cupid knows all about arrows, but he is a stranger to bullets.

Tergott, the quick, had noted his friend's abstraction and poor marksmanship, guessed the reason, and so made his espochal proposition. He wanted Disbrow out of the way. He knew better than Disbrow himself how deep an impression that youth had made on Belle McNee. He rolled over on his back and looked nonchalantly up at the sky, while Disbrow was coming to a decision. A fierce anxiety was surging in the brain behind his comely face. He was afraid Disbrow would not accept his challenge; and he did not relish future months of rivalry. True to his nature, he wanted to hurry through the stress.

Disbrow pondered silently. He did not attribute unworthiness to Tergott. He believed his friend and rival had challenegd impulsively, never dreaming that Tergott was taking an unfair advantage of his temporary lapse from form. He thought deeply Finally, as Tergott was almost ready to yell from sheer nervous suspense, he said: "I'll take you, Bob." So the momentous match began. They fired alternately Tergott started brilliantly; his first four shots were bull's-eyes. Disbrow, unsteady, gradually pulled himself together. He crept toward the "bull." The fifth shot was in the black.

When half the twenty shots had been fired, Tergott was heartfly sick of the contest. He was still shooting well. But Disbrow was better. The gravity of the occasion sent abstraction flying and cleared his troubled brain.

On the twelfth shot Tergott began to slip. It was not in him to go through to the end. On the fourteenth, he lost the lead. His twentieth effort left him a margin of three points only against the last shot of Disbrow. A four would beat him, and Disbrow had been getting fives steadily. Unless a miracle intervened,

A miracle did intervene. Disbrow choked down his breathing and the beating of his heart. His aim was perfect. But just as his finger squeezed the trigger, the sun-browned hills began to blur. The ground crept and trembled sickeningly. earthquake was upon them.

Disbrow tried instinctively to release his pressure on the trigger; but his brain could not get the message to his fingers quickly enough. Just previously it had signaled the muscles to contract. As the 'quake joggled the muzzle of his rifle off the target, they did contract. The shot went wild.

The trembling was over in a few seconds. The frightened markers returned to the pit from which they had fled. In due time they signaled to the pair lying pale and thoughtful on the firing line. Disbrow had lost by three points.

He knew, and Tergott knew, that he had not lost fairly. The firing regulations do not intend that riflemen shall buck earthquakes. Tergott, the adroit, said quickly: "Too bad about that miss. The wind veered just before you fired But you beat the earthquake." Disbrow looked at him curiously, with a lonesome ache at his part. A man is likely to feel beref, when he has lost faith in a friend. Tergott took it for granted that everything was settled. He began to talk regretfully of Disbrow's early departure from New Vista. Next day he wrote to Spokane and got his rival a place with better pay. By subtle suggestion he set Disbrow's departure a scant two weeks ahead.

Disbrow had lost a friend and sweetheart, and the one hurt almost as much as the other. ease the latter wound by telling him self philosophically that Belle McNee They had been friends, and he had taken her to the beach and the theater. But she was friendly with Tergott, and went to places with him, too. Disbrow had intended telling her, when he had $400 saved up, that he loved her Asking Too Much.

"Minister Maura has given Spain the worst government she ever knew!" exclaimed Pablo Iglesais, the flery socialist leader, in the Cortes some months ago. This recalls an expression of an under secretary of the state of the time of Canovas:

"Spain asked of God a fertile soil. He has given her a soil in which to ripen all the best fruits of the earth. Spain asked God for beautiful women. He has given her the beautiful daughters of Granada and Seville. Spain asked God to give her rich and inexhaustible mineral treasures. He has given a profusion of mines. But when Spain asked God to give her good government he responded: 'What! Have I not given everything-a fertile soil beautifu! women, magnificent mineral treasures? And now you ask a good government! This is too much!""-From le Cride Paris.

Supplying London With Water. E. B. Barnard, chairman of the Metropolitan water board, in an address on the work of that body at the santtary inspectors' conference in London yesterday said that the population which the board was supplying with water was nearly equal to that of the two kingdoms of Norway and Sweden, about the same as the dominion of Canada, 2,000,000 more than Australia and New Zealand together and larger than the whole population of Scotland and Wales by about 1,000,000.

If they could build a tank the size of Trafalgar square (two and a half acres) and the height of Nelson's column, London would empty such a tank twice in every 24 hours.
